POLICY

Issued: 10/01/1980

Reviewed: 06/01/2026

Members of the university community have the right to be free from all forms of protected class discrimination and harassment, including sexual misconduct, which impede the realization of the university's mission. All members of the university community are expected to conduct themselves in a manner that maintains an environment free from discrimination, harassment, and sexual misconduct. This expectation is consistent with our university's shared values and the law.

Ohio State does not discriminate on the basis of age, ancestry, color, disability, ethnicity, gender, gender identity or expression, genetic information, HIV/AIDS status, military status, national origin, pregnancy, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or veteran status, or any other bases under the law, in its education program or activity, which includes employment.

In addition, the university prohibits discrimination against any employee or applicant for employment on the basis of race, color, religion, gender, gender identity or expression, national origin (ancestry), military status (past, present, or future), disability, age (40 years or older), status as a parent during pregnancy and immediately after the birth of a child, status as a parent of a young child, status as a nursing mother, status as a foster parent, genetic information, or sexual orientation, as those terms are defined in Ohio law, federal law, and previous Executive Orders, in making any of the following employment-related decisions:

- a. Hiring
- b. Layoff
- c. Termination
- d. Transfer
- e. Promotion
- f. Demotion
- g. Rate of compensation
- h. Eligibility for in-service training programs

Discrimination, harassment, and sexual misconduct violate the dignity of individuals and will not be tolerated. The university seeks to eliminate discrimination, harassment, and sexual misconduct through education, promoting intervention, and encouraging everyone to report concerns including third parties when the respondent is a member of the university community. The university is committed to stopping discrimination, harassment, and sexual misconduct, preventing its recurrence, eliminating any hostile environment, and remedying its discriminatory effects. This policy defines expectations for the university community and establishes mechanisms for determining when those expectations have been violated.

This policy will be interpreted in compliance with applicable laws and exceptions provided by applicable law. Nothing in this policy is intended to detract from rights guaranteed to bargaining unit members under their current collective bargaining agreements.

Applies to: Faculty, staff, students, student employees, graduate associates, suppliers/contractors, program participants, volunteers, and visitors

Purpose of the Policy

To maintain a university environment free from discrimination, harassment, and sexual misconduct.

Definitions

Term	Definition
Consent	Permission that is clear, knowing, voluntary, and expressed prior to engaging in and during an act. Consent is active, not passive. Silence, in and of itself, cannot be interpreted as consent. Consent can be given by words or actions, as long as those words or actions create mutually understandable clear permission regarding willingness to engage in (and the conditions of) sexual activity. A. Consent to any one form of sexual activity cannot automatically imply consent to any other forms of sexual activity. B. Consent may be withdrawn at any time. C. Previous relationships or prior consent cannot constitute consent to future sexual acts; this includes “blanket” consent (i.e., permission in advance for any/all actions at a later time/place). D. Consent cannot be given by an individual who one knows to be – or based on the circumstances should reasonably have known to be – substantially impaired (e.g., by alcohol or other drug use, unconsciousness, etc.). 1. Substantial impairment is a state when an individual cannot make rational, reasonable decisions because they lack the capacity to give knowing consent (e.g., to understand the “who, what, when, where, why, or how” of their sexual interaction). 2. This also covers individuals whose substantial impairment results from other physical or mental conditions including mental disability, sleep, involuntary physical restraint, or from the consumption of alcohol or other drugs. 3. Being impaired by alcohol or other drugs will never function as a defense for any behavior that violates this policy. E. It is the obligation of the person initiating the sexual activity to obtain consent. F. An individual cannot consent who has been coerced, including being compelled by force, threat of force, or deception; who is unaware that the act is being committed; or who is coerced by a supervisory or disciplinary authority. 1. Force: violence, compulsion, or constraint; physically exerted by any means upon or against a person. 2. Coercion: the application of pressure by the respondent that unreasonably interferes with the complainant's ability to exercise free will. Factors to be considered include, but are not limited to, the intensity and duration of the conduct. G. A person who does not want to consent to sex is not required to resist or verbally object. H. Withdrawal of consent can be manifested through conduct and need not be a verbal withdrawal of consent (i.e., crying, pulling away, pushing away, not actively participating, lying there, uncomfortable or upset facial expression). I. Consent may not be given by an individual who has not reached the legal age of consent under applicable law.
Complaint	A broad term that encompasses two types of complaints: a Civil Rights Compliance Office (CRCO) complaint and a Title IX complaint.
CRCO complaint	Under this policy, a document filed by a complainant or signed by an CRCO director or designee alleging discrimination, harassment, sexual misconduct, process abuse, or retaliation against a respondent and requesting that the university investigate the allegation that does not fall under Title IX.
Title IX complaint	A document filed by a complainant or signed by the Title IX coordinator alleging sexual harassment (Title IX) against a respondent and requesting that the university investigate the allegation of sexual harassment. This definition is intended to comply with the definition of formal complaint in 34 C.F.R. § 106.30.
CRCO director	Employees of CRCO who have authority to take designated action under this policy. For the purposes of this policy, CRCO directors include the associate vice president of CRCO, Americans with Disabilities Act coordinator, director of EEO, Title IX coordinator, and director of youth protection. Throughout this policy, a reference to CRCO director also includes a designee. The Title IX coordinator or designee will perform the appropriate actions as required by law.

Non-Discrimination, Harassment, and Sexual Misconduct

University Policy

Applies to: Faculty, staff, students, student employees, graduate associates, suppliers/contractors, program participants, volunteers, and visitors

Term	Definition
Discrimination	Discrimination (disparate treatment and disparate impact) occurs when an adverse action is taken under university authority against a university community member in an educational program or activity and the action is based upon one's protected class status. Disparate treatment occurs when one suffers less favorable treatment than others because of their protected class status. Disparate impact occurs when a university policy or practice, although neutral on its face, adversely impacts persons in a protected class.
Education program or activity	Locations, events, or circumstances over which the university exercises substantial control over both the respondent and the context in which the reported conduct occurs, including employment, and also include any building owned or controlled by a student organization that is officially recognized by the university.
Harassment	In the employment context, harassment is unwelcome verbal or physical conduct based on a protected class that unreasonably interferes with an individual's work performance or creates an intimidating, hostile, or offensive work environment. In the education context, harassment is unwelcome verbal or physical conduct based on a protected class that interferes with, denies, or limits an individual's ability to participate in or benefit from the university's educational programs and activities. Harassment can take two forms: power differentials (quid pro quo) or hostile environment: A. Quid pro quo harassment exists when: 1. There are unwelcome requests or demands based on a protected class, which may include but are not limited to unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, or other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature; and 2. Submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of an individual's employment or academic status; or 3. Submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for employment or academic decisions adversely affecting such individual. B. Hostile environment in the employment context includes any situation in which there is harassing conduct based on a protected class that is sufficiently severe or pervasive such that it unreasonably interferes with an individual's work performance or creates an intimidating, hostile, or offensive work environment. Hostile environment in the education context includes any situation in which there is harassing conduct based on a protected class that is sufficiently severe, persistent, or pervasive that it interferes with or denies educational benefits or opportunities, from both a subjective (the complainant's) and an objective (reasonable person's) viewpoint. 1. The determination of whether an environment is "hostile" is based on a totality of circumstances. These circumstances may include: a. The degree to which the conduct interfered with the complainant's educational or work performance; b. The type, frequency, and duration of the conduct; c. The identity of and relationship between the respondent and the complainant(s); d. The number of individuals involved; e. The age and sex of the respondent and the complainant(s); f. The location of the incident(s) and the context in which it occurred; g. The nature and severity of the conduct; h. Whether the conduct was physically threatening; i. Whether the conduct was humiliating; j. The effect of the conduct on the complainant's mental or emotional state; k. Whether the conduct arose in the context of other discriminatory conduct; l. Whether the speech or conduct deserves the protections of academic freedom or the first amendment. 2. A single or isolated incident of harassment may be severe enough to create a hostile environment. Minor slights, annoyances, and isolated incidents (unless extremely serious) will not rise to the level of harassment. To violate this policy, the conduct must create a hostile environment, as described above, to a reasonable person. * See additional definition of sexual harassment (Title IX and non-Title IX).
Party	A broad term that encompasses complainant(s) and respondent(s) in a matter.

Term	Definition
Complainant	An individual who is alleged to be the victim of conduct prohibited by this policy. An individual may be a complainant regardless of whether that individual makes a report or participates in the review of that report by the university.
Respondent	An individual who has been reported to be the perpetrator of conduct prohibited by this policy.
Prohibited relationships	Romantic and/or sexual relationships that are not allowed due to power differentials. A power differential exists when one party is responsible, at least in part, in their official capacity for supervising, evaluating, teaching, advising, coaching, treating, or counseling the other party. An employee in any of their official capacities must not exercise responsibility for supervising, evaluating, teaching, advising, coaching, treating, or counseling any student with whom the employee has a consensual romantic and/or sexual relationship. An employee must not make decisions regarding the hiring, performance evaluation, promotion, tenure, compensation, or termination of a person with whom they have a consensual romantic and/or sexual relationship.
Protected class	Protected class is defined by federal law/executive order, federal agencies, or university policy. The protected classes include: age, ancestry, color, disability, ethnicity, gender, gender identity or expression, genetic information, HIV/AIDS status, military status, national origin, race, religion, sex, gender, sexual orientation, pregnancy, veteran status, or any other bases under the law.
Retaliation	Any adverse action against any person by any other, such as intimidation, threats, coercion, or discrimination against any individual for the purpose of interfering with any right or privilege secured by this policy, or because the individual has made a report or complaint, testified, assisted, or participated or refused to participate in any manner in an investigation, proceeding, or hearing under this policy. Intimidation, threats, coercion, or discrimination, including charges against an individual for policy violations that do not involve discrimination or harassment, but arise out of the same facts or circumstances as a report or complaint of discrimination, harassment, or sexual misconduct, or a report or complaint of harassment, for the purpose of interfering with any right or privilege secured by this policy, constitutes retaliation. Examples of retaliation include: discrimination or harassment as defined by this policy, job termination, adjustment in pay or responsibilities, or any other action that has an adverse effect on the working environment of an employee, that hinders or prevents an employee from effectively carrying out their university duties, or that has an adverse impact on the academic or living environment of a student. Any person or group within the scope of this policy who engages in retaliation is subject to a separate complaint of retaliation under this policy. A good faith pursuit by a party of civil, criminal, or other legal action, internal or external to the university, does not constitute retaliation.
Sexual misconduct	A broad term that encompasses sexual harassment (university definition and/or Title IX) , sexual assault, relationship violence , stalking , and sexual exploitation .
Relationship violence	A broad term that encompasses dating violence and domestic violence .
Dating violence	Violence committed by a person who is or has been in a social relationship of a romantic or intimate nature with the complainant. A. The existence of such a relationship will be determined based on the reporting party's statement and with consideration of the length of the relationship, the type of relationship, and the frequency of interaction between the persons involved in the relationship. B. For the purposes of this definition— 1. Dating violence includes, but is not limited to, sexual or physical abuse or the threat of such abuse. Dating violence does not include acts covered under the definition of domestic violence.
Domestic violence	Conduct that would meet the definition of a felony or misdemeanor crime of violence committed by a current or former spouse or intimate partner of the complainant, by a person with whom the complainant shares a child in common, by a person who is cohabitating with or has cohabitated with the complainant as a spouse or intimate partner, by a person similarly situated to a spouse of the complainant under the domestic or family violence laws of the jurisdiction receiving grant monies, or by any other person against an adult or youth complainant who is protected from that person's acts under the domestic or family violence laws of the jurisdiction.

Examples of sexual exploitation include, but are not limited to: A. Engaging in voyeurism; B. Exposing one's genitals in non-consensual circumstances; inducing another to expose their genitals; C. "Student" also includes registered student organizations. A student organization remains a "student" for purposes of this policy for one calendar year following the expiration of the organization's most recent registration. A student organization is not a "student" for the purposes of Title IX complaints under this policy. The university reserves the right to administer this policy and proceed with any process provided by this policy even if the student withdraws from the university, is no longer enrolled in classes, or subsequently fails to meet the definition of a student while a disciplinary matter is pending.

When an employee engages in conduct in violation of this policy and the conduct is committed off-duty and not on university property or in the context of an educational program or activity, the university may discipline the employee, up to and including termination, whenever the conduct undermines the credibility of the employee to perform the employee's job or is otherwise connected to employment at the university; has the effect of substantially interfering with the work or educational performance of students, faculty, or staff; or the conduct demonstrates that the individual poses a credible threat to campus safety and security. - A. In order to maintain the integrity of the university's mission, the university has identified prohibited relationships. To avoid prohibited relationships, alternative arrangements may be made as described in this section.
- B. Alternative arrangements and self-disclosure
 1. Making acceptable alternative arrangements means addressing the power differential by removing supervisory, evaluation, teaching, advising, coaching, or counseling responsibilities between the individual with greater institutional power and the other party. C. Accountability

1. Allegations of prohibited relationships that have elements of sexual misconduct will be handled in accordance with the procedures set forth in this policy. CRCO will refer all other allegations of prohibited relationships to Employee and Labor Relations for assessment, investigation, and response as appropriate, in accordance with the Employee and Labor Relations Investigation Standards.
2. An individual who promptly provides notification of a prohibited relationship and cooperates in making acceptable alternative arrangements in a timely manner will not be held in violation of the prohibited relationship section of this policy.

III. Employee Duty to Report

- A. The university is committed to stopping discrimination, harassment, and sexual misconduct, preventing the recurrence, eliminating any hostile environment, and remedying the discriminatory effects. All university employees have reporting responsibilities to ensure the university can take appropriate action.
- B. All university employees, except those exempted by legal privilege of confidentiality (see Policy Details III.G) or expressly identified as a confidential reporter, must report incidents of sexual assault. Any employee who receives a disclosure of a sexual assault or becomes aware of information that would lead a reasonable person to believe that a sexual assault may have occurred involving anyone covered under this policy must report all known information immediately.
- C. In addition to the requirement of reporting incidents of sexual assault, the following university community members must also report all other incidents of discrimination, harassment, sexual misconduct, and prohibited relationships when they receive a disclosure or become aware of information that would lead a reasonable person to believe that discrimination, harassment, sexual misconduct, or prohibited relationships may have occurred involving anyone covered under this policy. These individuals must report all known information as soon as practicable but at most within five workdays of becoming aware of such information:
 1. Any human resource professional;
 2. Anyone who supervises faculty, staff, students, or volunteers;
 3. Chair/director; and

- E. Employees with a duty to report should refer to Policy Details IV (Reporting Allegations).

University Policy

 - 1. Professional and pastoral counselors
 - a. A professional counselor is a person whose official responsibilities include providing mental health counseling to members of the university community and who is functioning within the scope of that license or certification and their university employment. This definition applies even to professional counselors who are not employees of the university but are under contract to provide counseling at the university. This also includes an individual who is not yet licensed or certified as a counselor but is acting in that role under the supervision of an individual who is licensed or certified (e.g., a Ph.D. counselor-trainee acting under the supervision of a professional counselor at the university).
 - b. A pastoral counselor is a person who is associated with a religious order or denomination, is recognized by that religious order or denomination as someone who provides confidential counseling and is functioning within the scope of that recognition and their role at the university. In this context, a pastoral counselor, such as a pastor or priest, who is functioning as an athletic director or as a student advocate would not be exempt from the reporting obligations.
 - 2. Other employees with a professional license requiring confidentiality who are functioning within the scope of that license or certification and their university employment. For example, a physician with dual appointments (clinician and professor) would be required to report instances of sexual misconduct and sexual assault of which they become aware of in the scope of their employment as a professor, but while operating as a clinician must keep such information confidential and privileged by the physician-patient relationship unless there is a mandatory reporting requirement under state law.
 - 3. Employees who are functioning within the scope of their university employment and who are supervised by or performing duties for university employees with a professional license requiring confidentiality, for example, student health services and medical center employees. Such employees cannot disclose confidential information but must follow reporting requirements for any non-confidential information.
- H. Corrective action may be taken against any individual who has a duty to report and who fails to respond in a manner consistent with the provisions of applicable laws, regulations, policies, and procedures.

IV. Reporting Allegations

- A. Contacting CRCO to share all known information will satisfy the employee duty to report. CRCO is the office that has authority to institute corrective measures on behalf of the university. Reports can also be made voluntarily by any university community member or individual who is directly involved in, observes, or reasonably believes that discrimination, harassment, sexual misconduct, process abuse, or retaliation may have occurred. This includes allegations by third parties against any individual covered by this policy.

Agency	Contact Information
Ohio State University Police Department	614-292-2121 or 9-1-1 for emergencies dps.osu.edu
For regional campuses and off-campus crimes, local law enforcement agency	9-1-1 for emergencies

- C. Individuals, including members of the university community, may submit reports anonymously via the following resources. Note that anonymous reports do not fulfill an employee's duty to report.

1. The university's Anonymous Reporting Line via telephone at 866-294-9350 or ohio-state.ethicspoint.com.
2. Online reporting form at civilrights.osu.edu.

V. Confidentiality and Privacy

- A. The university recognizes the importance of confidentiality and privacy. See the Resources section for a list of confidential support, non-confidential support, and medical resources. Information received in connection with the reporting, investigation, and resolution of allegations will be treated as private and will only be shared with individuals whom the university determines are necessary to conduct an appropriate investigation, provide assistance and resources to parties, perform other appropriate university functions, or in accordance with applicable law.
- B. The university will maintain as confidential any supportive measures provided to the complainant or respondent to the extent that maintaining such confidentiality would not impair the ability of the university to provide the supportive measures and is consistent with applicable law.
- C. The university will keep confidential the identity of any individual who has made a report or complaint of discrimination, harassment, or sexual misconduct; any complainant; any individual who has been reported to be the perpetrator of discrimination, harassment, or sexual misconduct; any respondent; and any witness, except in accordance with applicable law or university policy.
- D. If an incident is disclosed or reported to the university and the individual requests that no investigation be conducted or disciplinary action taken, the CRCO director will explain that the university prohibits retaliation and explain the steps the university will take to prevent and respond to retaliation if the individual participates in an investigatory or other resolution process. The associate vice president of CRCO or designee will evaluate the request to determine whether the university can honor the request while still providing a safe and nondiscriminatory environment. In compliance with the university's legal obligations, the university may initiate a resolution process (informal, investigative, and/or other) and take appropriate remedial action irrespective of the reporting party's request.
- E. A decision to proceed with a resolution process (informal, investigative, and/or other) despite an individual's request will be made on a case-by-case basis after an individualized review, and the complainant will be notified if such a decision is made.
- F. All individuals involved in the process should observe the same standard of discretion and respect for everyone involved in the process.

University Policy

Applies to: Faculty, staff, students, student employees, graduate associates, suppliers/contractors, program participants, volunteers, and visitors

VI. Supportive Measures

- A. Upon receipt of a report of discrimination, harassment, or sexual misconduct, the CRCO director will promptly contact the complainant to discuss the availability of supportive measures, consider the complainant's wishes with respect to supportive measures, inform the complainant of the availability of supportive measures with or without the filing of a complaint, and explain to the complainant the process for filing a complaint. The university treats complainants and respondents equitably by offering supportive measures to both parties, if and when a respondent is identified.
- B. The CRCO director will conduct an individualized assessment and will review requests from either party to determine supportive measures that are appropriate and reasonably available. Such measures are designed to restore or preserve equal access to the recipient's education program or activity without unreasonably burdening the other party, including measures designed to protect the safety of all parties or the recipient's educational environment, or deter discrimination, harassment, and sexual misconduct.
- C. Supportive measures may include, but are not limited to:
 1. Mutual no contact directives;
 2. Referral to campus and community resources for advocacy, counseling, disability services, financial aid services, health services, immigration services, safety and transportation services;
 3. Extensions of deadlines or other course-related adjustments;
 4. Modification of work or class schedules;
 5. Change in work or housing locations;
 6. Change in reporting relationship;
 7. Consideration of leave requests;
 8. Assistance with academic petitions;
 9. Removal of a program participant, supplier/contractor, volunteer, or visitor; and
 10. Additional options as provided in the CRCO Process Standards.
- D. The CRCO director is responsible for coordinating the effective implementation of supportive measures. Parties will not be required to arrange such measures by themselves but may need to participate in communication with supervisors, faculty, and other university employees with a need to know.
- E. The university will follow the investigative resolution process before the imposition of any disciplinary sanctions or other actions that are not supportive measures as defined in this policy against a respondent.

VII. Emergency Removal

- A. The university may remove a respondent from a university's education program or activity on an emergency basis pursuant to conduct prohibited by this policy. If after an individualized safety and risk analysis, involving a review of relevant information known at the time, the university determines that an immediate threat to the physical health or safety of any student or other individual arising from the allegations of discrimination, harassment, or sexual misconduct justifies removal, the university may remove the respondent from the university's education program or activity or any part of the university's education program or activity.
- B. The university will provide the respondent with notice and an opportunity to challenge the decision immediately following the removal.
- C. Nothing in this policy precludes the university from imposing an interim suspension as provided by the Code of Student Conduct, if applicable.
- D. Nothing in Policy Details VII. A. or B. above precludes the university from placing faculty or staff on paid or unpaid administrative leave or reassignment during an investigative resolution process to the extent permitted by applicable university rules or policies.
- E. Nothing in this policy precludes the university from taking other appropriate action under separate university processes, if applicable.

University Policy

Applies to: Faculty, staff, students, student employees, graduate associates, suppliers/contractors, program participants, volunteers, and visitors

VIII. Informal, Investigative, and Other Resolution Options

A. Initial assessment

1. CRCO reviews all reports of discrimination, harassment, sexual misconduct, process abuse, and retaliation under this policy under the direction of the CRCO director for an initial assessment of the reported information.
2. Upon completion of an initial assessment, the CRCO director will determine the available options for resolution and will communicate options to the parties.
3. The available resolution options will be guided by the availability of information or evidence suggesting that a policy violation may have occurred; CRCO's decision to investigate and provide appropriate remedies to eliminate, prevent, and address the effects of the prohibited conduct; and the availability or desire of the complainant to participate in an investigation or other resolution. There may be instances where CRCO moves forward with an investigative or other resolution without the participation of a complainant as outlined in Policy Details V.D. above and considering factors outlined in the CRCO Process Standards.

B. Informal resolution

1. Informal resolution may be utilized in some circumstances where the university deems it appropriate, a complaint is filed, and all parties consent in writing. At any time prior to reaching a determination regarding responsibility, the university may facilitate an informal resolution process that may not involve a full investigation and hearing or other adjudication. In these circumstances, the university will:
 - a. Provide to the parties a written notice disclosing the allegations and the requirements of the informal resolution process including the circumstances under which it precludes the parties from resuming a complaint arising from the same allegations;
 - b. Inform all parties of the right to withdraw from the informal resolution process and resume the investigative resolution process with respect to the complaint, and any consequences resulting from participating in the informal resolution process, including the records that will be maintained or could be shared; and
 - c. Obtain the parties' voluntary, written consent to the informal resolution process.
2. Informal resolution is voluntary for all parties. The university does not require anyone to waive the right to an investigation and adjudication of a complaint consistent with this policy as a condition of enrollment or continuing enrollment, or employment or continuing employment, or enjoyment of any other right.
3. The university does not offer or facilitate an informal resolution process to resolve allegations that an employee sexually harassed a student.
4. Informal resolutions include instances where the respondent accepts responsibility for any or all allegations in a complaint.

C. Investigative resolution

1. CRCO may resolve a complaint of discrimination, harassment, or sexual misconduct through investigative resolution when the alleged misconduct, if true, would be prohibited under applicable university policy and informal resolution is inappropriate, a party requests an investigative resolution, or the university determines an investigative resolution is required. In such circumstances, the university will consider the concerns and rights of all parties and provide a prompt, fair, impartial, and equitable process.
2. Parties have an equitable right to:
 - a. Receive notice before participating in an interview with sufficient time to prepare for meaningful participation;
 - b. Participate in a process with reasonably prompt timeframes and extensions for good cause, as described in the CRCO Process Standards;
 - c. Present witnesses, including fact and expert witnesses, and other inculpatory and exculpatory evidence;
 - d. Discuss the allegations under investigation and to gather and present relevant evidence;

University Policy

Applies to: Faculty, staff, students, student employees, graduate associates, suppliers/contractors, program participants, volunteers, and visitors

- e. Receive timely and equal access to any relevant information or documentation gathered during the investigation;
 - f. Have investigators who are adequately trained to resolve cases of alleged sexual misconduct, are familiar with applicable policies and procedures, and who do not have a conflict of interest or bias for or against either party or bias for or against complainants and respondents generally; and
 - g. Have the same opportunities to have others present during any grievance proceeding, including the opportunity to be accompanied to any related meeting or proceeding by the advisor of their choice, who may be, but is not required to be, an attorney.
3. Advisors
- a. The university may not limit the choice or presence of advisor for either the complainant or respondent in any meeting or grievance proceeding; however, the university may establish restrictions regarding the extent to which the advisor may participate in the proceedings, as long as the restrictions apply equally to both parties. The restrictions are outlined in the Advisor Form.
 - b. An advisor may only provide counsel or support for a party and not actively participate in the process, except to conduct cross-examination during hearings, unless clarification is needed as determined by the university. The advisor may not engage in any conduct that would constitute harassment or retaliation against any person who has participated in an investigation and may be denied further participation if such conduct occurs.
- D. Other resolutions
- 1. The university reserves the right to have educational conversations and conduct informal coaching with anyone covered under this policy outside of the investigative process. Having an educational conversation does not preclude the university's ability to move forward with an informal or investigative resolution process. Having an educational conversation does not relieve the university of the requirement of conducting an investigative resolution if required by law.
 - 2. Such conversations are not considered an informal resolution and are not disciplinary actions.
 - 3. Other resolutions are not limited to educational conversations and informal coaching.

IX. Remedies

- A. A finding of a policy violation will result in a remedy, which may include corrective action/sanctions. The university will take steps, whether individual or systemic, to stop the prohibited discrimination, harassment, or sexual misconduct, prevent its recurrence, eliminate any hostile environment, and remedy the discriminatory effects on the complainant and others, as appropriate.
- B. Remedies must be designed to restore or preserve equal access to the university's education program or activity. Such remedies may include the same individualized services described as supportive measures; however, remedies may be disciplinary or punitive and need not avoid burdening the respondent.
- C. For Title IX complaints, the Title IX coordinator or designee is responsible for effective implementation of any remedies. For CRCO complaints, the associate vice president of CRCO or designee is responsible for effective implementation of any remedies.

X. Corrective Action/Sanctions

- A. When the respondent is a student, potential sanctions include formal reprimand, disciplinary probation, suspension, dismissal, and other appropriate educational sanctions.
- B. In the event that a record of such sanction will become a part of the respondent's academic transcript, notice will be provided to the respondent.
- C. When the respondent is an employee, corrective actions may be taken pursuant to the Corrective Action and Involuntary Termination policy, Student Employment policy, applicable collective bargaining agreements, and/or University Faculty Rule 3335-5-04. Disciplinary corrective actions may include reduction in supervisory duties and leadership responsibilities, changes in salary, demotion, termination, and other appropriate corrective actions.

Applies to: Faculty, staff, students, student employees, graduate associates, suppliers/contractors, program participants, volunteers, and visitors

- D. A record of such corrective action will become a part of the respondent's personnel records and notice will be provided to the respondent.
- E. Student employees may be subject to corrective action and sanctions under both Policy Details X.A and X.C above. For instance, a student employee who is dismissed from the university under section X.A may also be subject to termination or other corrective action under section X.C.
- F. Restoring or preserving equal access to the university's education program or activity is one consideration in determining appropriate sanctions and/or corrective actions.
- G. Other remedial measures
 - 1. When the university is unable to proceed with an investigative resolution (for example, due to a lack of information in the report or a request by the complainant that an investigation not move forward), the university may take other remedial measures as appropriate to remedy the effects of the alleged discrimination, harassment, or sexual misconduct and/or prevent its recurrence. Remedial measures may also be implemented when it is determined that inappropriate behavior occurred, but that the behavior did not rise to the level of a policy violation.
 - 2. Remedial measures may include and are not limited to:
 - a. Providing training on sexual misconduct,
 - b. Increasing security in a designated space,
 - c. Changing policy or procedure, and
 - d. Conducting climate checks.

XI. Retaliation

- A. Retaliation is prohibited by university policy and law. The university will not tolerate retaliation in any form against any individual who makes an allegation, files a report, serves as a witness, assists a complainant, or participates in an investigation of discrimination, harassment, or sexual misconduct.
- B. Retaliation is a serious violation that can subject the offender to discipline, up to and including termination of employment and/or suspension or dismissal of a student, independent of the merits of the underlying allegation.
- C. The university may take action under university policy as long as it is not done for the purpose of interfering with any rights and privileges provided by this policy.

XII. Process Abuse

- A. It is a violation of this policy for anyone to:
 - 1. Obstruct, prohibit, exert improper influence over, or interfere with any individual making a report, participating in a process, or carrying out a responsibility covered by this policy;
 - 2. Falsify or misrepresent information in or related to a process covered by this policy;
 - 3. Make a false allegation;
 - 4. Disrupt or interfere with the orderly conduct of any proceeding conducted under this policy; or
 - 5. Fail to comply with any directive or sanction issued pursuant to this policy.
- B. False allegations
 - 1. It is a violation of this policy for anyone to knowingly or with reckless disregard for the truth make false allegations of discrimination, harassment, or sexual misconduct. Corrective action/sanctions may be imposed on individuals who knowingly or with reckless disregard for the truth make false allegations.
 - 2. The absence of a finding of a policy violation is not equivalent to a false allegation.
- C. Allegations of process abuse will be investigated as provided in the CRCO Process Standards.

University Policy

Applies to: Faculty, staff, students, student employees, graduate associates, suppliers/contractors, program participants, volunteers, and visitors

XIII. Training

- A. All faculty, staff, student employees, graduate associates, and students are required to take annual sexual misconduct training and other anti-discrimination and harassment training as directed by the university.
- B. All individuals who are responsible for effectuating any part of this policy are required to be trained on the substantive requirements of Title IX.

XIV. Account Holds and Notations

- A. The university may, within its discretion, place a hold on a student's account or place a notation on a student's transcript while any investigation or proceeding conducted pursuant to this policy is pending.

XV. Directives

- A. CRCO may issue directives when necessary to effectuate this policy.

PROCEDURE

Issued: 10/01/1980

Reviewed: 06/01/2026

I. Initial Assessment

- A. CRCO reviews all reports of discrimination, harassment, sexual misconduct, process abuse, and retaliation under this policy.
 - 1. If the initial assessment indicates a report of a prohibited relationship without any other elements of sexual misconduct, CRCO will refer the report to Employee and Labor Relations for assessment, investigation, and response as appropriate, in accordance with the Employee and Labor Relationships Investigation Standards.
- B. Reports may be informal (e.g., verbal or anonymous) or formal (through the reporting channels as described in this policy).
- C. CRCO will provide rights and options to all complainants, including supportive measures, resolution options, and how to file a complaint, if desired.
- D. CRCO may take preliminary steps to fully assess the reported and related information to determine jurisdiction or if a CRCO director will file a complaint.
- E. Upon completion of an initial assessment, the CRCO director may file a CRCO complaint. When the CRCO director files a complaint, the CRCO director and/or university does not become the complainant. The complainant retains their rights and will be notified and receive all notices and information as outlined in this policy.

II. Review of Complaint

- A. Written notice
 - 1. Upon the filing of a complaint, the university will provide written notice to the parties who are known. That written notice must:
 - a. Explain the university's investigative resolution process and any informal resolution options;
 - b. Describe the allegations potentially constituting misconduct, including sufficient details known at the time;
 - c. Include sufficient details, including the identities of the parties involved in the incident, if known, the conduct allegedly constituting discrimination, harassment, or sexual misconduct, and the date and location of the alleged incident, if known;
 - d. Include a statement that the respondent is presumed not responsible for the alleged conduct and that a determination regarding responsibility is made at the conclusion of the grievance process;

University Policy

Applies to: Faculty, staff, students, student employees, graduate associates, suppliers/contractors, program participants, volunteers, and visitors

- e. Inform the parties that they may have an advisor of their choice who may be, but is not required to be, an attorney, and who may inspect and review evidence;
 - f. Inform the parties of provisions in this policy that prohibit retaliation and process abuse, which includes knowingly making false statements or knowingly submitting false information during the grievance process; and
 - g. Be provided with sufficient time for the parties to prepare a response before any initial interview.
2. If, in the course of an investigation, the university decides to investigate allegations about the complainant or respondent that are not included in the notice, the university must provide notice of the additional allegations to the parties whose identities are known.
- B. Dismissal of a CRCO complaint
1. If the alleged behavior in a CRCO complaint, if true, does not meet the definition of a policy violation, a CRCO director or designee may dismiss the complaint.
 2. The university, at its discretion, may dismiss a CRCO complaint or any allegations therein, if at any time during the investigation or hearing a complainant notifies CRCO in writing that the complainant would like to withdraw the complaint or any allegations therein; the respondent is no longer enrolled at or employed by the university; specific circumstances prevent the university from gathering evidence sufficient to reach a determination as to the complaint or allegations therein; or where there is no reasonable cause to believe that a policy violation may have occurred. However, when the university is on notice of behavior that violates this policy or the law, it may be required to proceed with an investigative resolution irrespective of the complainant's desire to withdraw from the process.
 3. If the complaint is dismissed, the investigative process will cease, but the matter may be referred to other resolution processes or other appropriate university processes or action.
- C. Dismissal of a Title IX complaint
1. The university must investigate the allegations in a Title IX complaint. If the conduct alleged in the Title IX complaint would not constitute sexual harassment under Title IX even if proved, did not occur in the university's education program or activity, did not occur against a person in the United States, or the complainant is not an individual participating in or attempting to participate in the education program or activity of the university, then the university must dismiss the Title IX complaint with regard to that conduct for purposes of sexual harassment under Title IX. Such a dismissal does not preclude action under another provision of this policy or another university policy.
 2. The university, at its discretion, may dismiss a Title IX complaint or any allegations therein, if at any time during the investigation or hearing a complainant notifies the Title IX Coordinator in writing that the complainant would like to withdraw the complaint or any allegations therein; the respondent is no longer enrolled at or employed by the university; or specific circumstances prevent the university from gathering evidence sufficient to reach a determination as to the complaint or allegations therein.
 3. Upon a dismissal of a Title IX complaint, the university must promptly send written notice of the dismissal and reason(s) simultaneously to the parties. The matter may proceed under the CRCO complaint process or be referred to another appropriate university process.
- D. Consolidation of complaints
1. The university, at its discretion, may consolidate complaints as to allegations against more than one respondent, or by more than one complainant against one or more respondents, or by one party against the other party, where the allegations arise out of the same facts or circumstances. This consolidation may include some or all of the investigation, resolution, or hearing.
- E. Conduct that may violate other university policies
1. When reported conduct may violate this policy and other university policies, the associate vice president of CRCO or designee will consult with the appropriate university office(s) to determine how the matter should be investigated and adjudicated. This may, but is not required to, involve a joint investigation by more than one office.

University Policy

Applies to: Faculty, staff, students, student employees, graduate associates, suppliers/contractors, program participants, volunteers, and visitors

2. The office or process used to investigate and adjudicate the matter is within the sole discretion of the university except as required by other applicable university rules or policies, but procedures set forth in this policy will be used to investigate and adjudicate alleged violations of this policy. The associate vice president of CRCO or designee may refer possible violations of other university policies to an appropriate office at any time.

III. Investigation of a Complaint

- A. A typical investigation will be completed within a reasonably prompt timeframe as described in the CRCO Process Standards.
- B. The investigation generally will include interviews with the parties, relevant witnesses, and a review of relevant documents and other available evidence.
- C. When investigating a complaint and throughout the investigative resolution process, the university will:
 1. Ensure that the burden of proof and the burden of gathering evidence sufficient to reach a determination regarding responsibility both rest on the university and not on the parties.
 2. For Title IX matters, only access, consider, disclose, or otherwise use a party's records, with a party's voluntary written consent, that are made or maintained by a physician, psychiatrist, psychologist, or other recognized professional or paraprofessional acting in the professional's or paraprofessional's capacity, or assisting in that capacity, and which are made and maintained in connection with the provision of treatment to the party, in the investigative resolution process.
 3. Provide an equal opportunity for the parties to present witnesses, including fact and expert witnesses, and other inculpatory and exculpatory evidence.
 - a. Evidence about the complainant's sexual predisposition or prior sexual behavior are not relevant, unless such evidence about the complainant's prior sexual behavior is offered to prove that someone other than the respondent committed the conduct alleged by the complainant, or if the evidence concerns specific incidents of the complainant's prior sexual behavior with respect to the respondent and are offered to prove consent.
 - b. Exculpatory evidence may include evidence that a party acted in self-defense, as described in the CRCO Process Standards.
 4. Not restrict the ability of either party to discuss the allegations under investigation or to gather and present relevant evidence.
 5. Provide parties the same opportunities to be accompanied to any meeting or proceeding by the advisor of their choice, who may be, but is not required to be, an attorney, and not limit such choice or presence for either party.
 - a. The university may establish restrictions regarding the extent to which the advisor may participate in the proceedings, as long as the restrictions apply equally to both parties. See Advisor Form.
 6. Provide, to a party whose participation is invited or expected, written notice of the date, time, location, participants, and purpose of all hearings, investigative interviews, or other meetings or proceedings with sufficient time for the party to prepare to participate.
 7. Provide parties an equal opportunity to inspect and review any evidence obtained as part of the investigation that is directly related to the allegations raised in a complaint, including the evidence upon which the university does not intend to rely in reaching a determination regarding responsibility and inculpatory or exculpatory evidence whether obtained from a party or other source, so that each party can meaningfully respond to the evidence prior to conclusion of the investigation.
 - a. Prior to completion of the investigative report, the university must send to each party and the party's advisor, if any, the evidence subject to inspection and review in an electronic format.
 - b. The parties must have at least ten business days to submit a written response, which the investigator will consider prior to completion of the investigative report.

University Policy

Applies to: Faculty, staff, students, student employees, graduate associates, suppliers/contractors, program participants, volunteers, and visitors

8. Provide an investigative report that fairly summarizes relevant evidence, in a format determined by the university, at least ten business days prior to a hearing or other time of determination regarding responsibility to each party and each party's advisor, if any, for their review and written response.

IV. Hearings

- A. Hearings are available for CRCO complaints involving student respondents and all Title IX complaints involving student or employee respondents.
- B. A university-appointed resolutions officer will preside over the hearing.
- C. At the hearing, the resolutions officer or designee will permit cross-examination of a party and any witnesses, which includes all relevant questions and follow-up questions, including those challenging credibility.
 1. The university must make all evidence previously provided to the parties available for inspection and review at the hearing to give each party equal opportunity to refer to such evidence during the hearing, including for purposes of cross-examination.
 2. For Title IX matters, cross-examination at the hearing must be conducted by the party's advisor of choice and never by a party personally.
 3. The university prohibits advisors from participating in the hearing outside of conducting cross-examination.
- D. Only relevant cross-examination and other questions may be asked of a party or witness. Before a complainant, respondent, or witness answers a cross-examination or other question, the resolutions officer or designee(s) must first determine whether the question is relevant and explain any decision to exclude a question as not relevant.
- E. If a party does not have an advisor present at the hearing, the university will provide, without charge to that party, an advisor of the university's choice to conduct cross-examination on behalf of that party for Title IX matters.
- F. The resolutions officer or designee(s) cannot draw an inference about the determination regarding responsibility based solely on a party's or witness's absence from the live hearing or refusal to answer cross-examination or other questions.

V. Adjudicating CRCO Complaints Not Involving Student Respondents

- A. For all CRCO complaints not covered by Procedure IV above, following an investigation, a written determination will be issued as explained in Procedure VI below, excluding cases with respondents who are program participants, suppliers/contractors, volunteers, and visitors.
- B. CRCO reserves the right to take immediate action when the alleged respondent is a program participant, supplier/contractor, volunteer, or visitor. The university's disciplinary response may be limited if the respondent is a visitor or other third-party or is not subject to the university's jurisdiction.

VI. Determination Regarding Responsibility for All Complaints

- A. The resolutions officer or designee will issue a written determination regarding responsibility using the preponderance of the evidence standard in all hearings. The civil rights investigator or designee will issue a written determination regarding responsibility using the preponderance of the evidence standard in all adjudications of CRCO complaints not involving student respondents.
- B. The written determination will include:
 1. Identification of the allegations potentially constituting discrimination, harassment, or sexual misconduct;
 2. For Title IX complaints only, a description of the procedural steps taken from the receipt of the Title IX complaint through the determination, including any notifications to the parties, interviews with parties and witnesses, site visits, methods used to gather other evidence, and hearings held;
 3. Findings of fact supporting the determination;
 4. Conclusions regarding the application of the policy to the facts;

University Policy

Applies to: Faculty, staff, students, student employees, graduate associates, suppliers/contractors, program participants, volunteers, and visitors

5. A statement of, and rationale for, the result as to each allegation, including a determination regarding responsibility;
 6. For Title IX complaints, additional information as to any disciplinary sanctions the university imposes on the respondent and whether remedies designed to restore or preserve equal access to the university's education program or activity will be provided by the university to the complainant; and
 7. The university's procedures and bases for the parties to appeal.
- C. The university must provide the written determination to the parties simultaneously.
- D. For CRCO complaints, the sanctions and remedies may be issued at a subsequent time outside of the written determination, and the parties will be informed of the outcome and imposed sanction or corrective action in accordance with FERPA and other applicable law.
- E. The determination regarding responsibility becomes final either on the date that the university provides the parties with the written determination of the result of the appeal, if an appeal is filed, or if an appeal is not filed, the date on which an appeal would no longer be considered timely.

VII. Implementing Corrective Action/Sanctions

- A. In cases involving students, any subsequent sanctions will be implemented by CRCO.
- B. In cases involving staff, any subsequent corrective action will be implemented by the employee's supervisor, Employee and Labor Relations, and/or other human resources professional as appropriate.
- C. In cases involving faculty, complaints regarding policy violations or other inappropriate behavior must be pursued through the University Faculty Rule 3335-5-04 process, as applicable, and non-disciplinary measures may be implemented by the faculty member's chair or dean if appropriate.

VIII. Appeals of Complaint Resolution

- A. Both parties may appeal a determination regarding responsibility and a dismissal of a complaint or any allegations therein, on the following bases:
 1. Procedural irregularity that affected the outcome of the matter;
 2. New evidence that was not reasonably available at the time the determination regarding responsibility or dismissal was made, that could affect the outcome of the matter;
 3. The CRCO director, investigator(s), or resolutions officer or designee(s) had a conflict of interest or bias for or against complainants or respondents generally or the individual complainant or respondent specifically that affected the outcome of the matter; and/or
- B. Additional bases for appeal may apply for matters involving a faculty member respondent in accordance with University Faculty Rule 3335-5-04.
- C. The party requesting the appeal must clearly articulate that their request falls within one of the bases for appeal. The director of resolutions or designee, so long as that person is not involved in the case as the assigned investigator or resolutions officer, will perform an initial review of the appeal.
- D. Where the director of resolutions or designee finds that at least one of the bases is clearly articulated, the appeal will proceed through the appeals process, which includes:
 1. Assigning an appeals officer who is adequately trained to review appeals in cases of alleged discrimination, harassment, or sexual misconduct, is familiar with applicable policies and procedures, and who does not have a conflict of interest or bias for or against either party or bias for or against complainants and respondents generally;
 2. Notifying the other party in writing when an appeal is filed and implementing appeal procedures equally for both parties;
 3. Giving both parties a reasonable, equal opportunity to submit a written statement in support of, or challenging, the outcome;
 4. Issuing a written decision describing the result of the appeal and the rationale for the result; and
 5. Providing the written decision simultaneously to both parties.

University Policy

Applies to: Faculty, staff, students, student employees, graduate associates, suppliers/contractors, program participants, volunteers, and visitors

- E. Where the director of resolutions or designee does not find that one of the bases is clearly articulated, they will deny the appeal. In such instances, the findings will stand, and the rebuttal will be retained in the investigation file. A party must provide specific information to articulate that one or more of the grounds of appeal could be met. Vague or blanket assertions or assertions unsupported by specific facts or information will be denied.

IX. Additional Guidance

- A. CRCO establishes standard protocols for responding to and resolving complaints of discrimination, harassment, and sexual misconduct.
